SOCIETY

About twenty-five members of local lodge No. 52, A. F. & A. M., attended a meeting of Weston lodge No. 65 Saturday evening, making the trip by autos and train. They went by special invitation to administer the third degree of the order to Clark Wood, editor of the Weston Leader, the compliment being both to him and the local lodge in recognition of the fact that he was at one time a very popular resident of this city. E. C. Rogers was also given the third degree, but the Weston team conducted the ceremonies with him. Following the meeting, a very enjoyable social session and banquet was held, lasting until the early hours of the morning.

Dr. Hagood, recently appointed to the Medical Reserve Corps from Pendleton, has arrived and is on duty in the post hospital. Later he is to attend the Army Medical School at Washington, D. C. Mrs. Hagood will join her husband here the last of this month.—Portland Oregonian.

The Women's Smith for Governor Club of this city will meet again at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home of Miss Jennie Perry on South Main street. Mrs. G. M. Rice, president of the organization, made the formal call this morning.

Mrs. Lot Livermore left yesterday morning for Spokane to be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. P. D. Tull, for an indefinite length of time.

Mrs. A. F. May yesterday enjoyed a visit from her brother, P. S. Weltenthaler, who was en route to his home at Burns, Ore., after a two months' visit in Wisconsin.

Mrs. J. S. Ashe, mother of Mrs. J. E. Beam, passed through the city yesterday en route to Portland from Spokane.

The Care of Children

(Margaret Blaine in Mother's Magazine.)

In a recent charities conference, Miss Jane Addams of Hull House gave an address in which she reversed the usual line of thought, and instead of telling how we may help the children, she told how the children are helping us, and what great things may be expected of our nation when this new generation, trained to seek and express beauty and goodness, takes their places. To illustrate her point, she told a beautiful story, deeply significant to every mother.

She said that a girl who had made friends at Hull House, married and moved to another part of the city. In due time she traveled proudly across the city to show her new baby to the Hull House friends. After the baby had been admired she prepared to go. "Do you not find the baby heavy to carry to the car?" someone asked.

"My baby heavy to carry!" cried the young mother. "Why, my baby carries me!"

Miss Addams told the story to apply it to the school and social work being done for children. But what mother can fail to see how it illustrates the truth of individual motherhood?

The baby carries his mother—well to what good thing will he not carry her? Have we not all marveled to see the careless girl, wedded and grown into a soho soul, with two or three little ones about her? What things a mother can bear joyfully? She gains physical strength and endurance and can go through tasks that would have been impossible but for the baby. If she lives up to her opportunities at all, she becomes a miracle of patient sweetness and sympathy, while the little helpless things are demanding every moment. She gains a wisdom that puts to shame the lore of books, and her soul grows so great that her faith and courage are absolutely unconquerable. Oh, these mother hero-saints! The most gifted pen could not pay them a worthy tribute!

Home Hints and Recipes

Honey on Fruit.

A novel way of sweetening grapefruit is the use of honey in place of sugar. If the fruit is to be used for breakfast, prepare it the night before, loosening the pulp from the skin and membrane; then pour over it enough honey to cover. In the morning the flavor will be found excellent, says the Newark News.

Ironing Done in Right Way.

Handkerchiefs should be ironed over on both sides till they are quite dry, exactly folded so as to bring the name or initials on the top fold, and well pressed. Iron very straight by the hem or selvage, not across from the corners, then press out the corners carefully and square.

Small things, such as table napkins or tray cloths, must be ironed all over on both sides, beginning with the right. The pressure of the iron on the damp linen will polish it and raise a bright gloss, which must be on the upper surface. If the wrong side is ironed first it will be glossy and the right side dull.

Be careful not to iron cotton or muslin materials when they are too dry or they will have a rough appearance and no gloss. Prints and colored goods must not be ironed with too hot an iron or the colors will be spoiled. Iron embroidery on the wrong side over flannel so as to raise the pattern.—New York Press.

Frilly Taffeta Spring Coats.

If you look back in the old fashion books leafed over by Grandaunt Amanda in 1860, you will get some idea of the frilly taffeta coats exploited in this spring's openings, according to a New York Press writer. The fact that we have gone back to frills and fussiness, bell-sleeves and scalloped ruffles is, indeed, in no place more authoritatively shown than in these same coats.

They are not the little boleros advancing so intrepidly upon us. Far from it. They are hip length coats and are generally carried out in either taffeta or moire. There are several styles, but all of them are completed by bunchy frills—two of them—outlining the garment. The most frequent type is one which is cut down in the back in a basque-like point, from which point two frills of about six inches depth are continued around the coat to the neck front. The line in front is sloping—that is, the front shows a cutaway outline, and the sleeves are bell-shaped.

Carried out in a taffeta of hyacinth blue shading into a hyacinth pink, this little wrap is very lovely—in spite of the fact that it seems to have set us down almost unchanged, as has no other garment in years.

New Blouse.

The new blouse should have a high flaring collar. The collar may stand modestly out above the collar of a suit or turn down to a low one as desired. "Every year," says Vogue, "women who give intelligent thought to their clothes are growing away from furberlows and fussiness, and at the same time functions it is the demure and reserved costume that elicits flattering comment. Besides all this, simple materials and handling are simple because they are less perishable and easier in every way to keep in good condition."

Cleaning Hint.

I have found, writes a contributor to Modern Priscilla, that gasoline will not make a circle on material if it is mixed with cornmeal. Rub the spot with the saturated cornmeal until the spot disappears, then brush thoroughly.

ABBREVIATION OF STATE CONFUSING; WANTS CHANGE

SPOKANE, Wash., March 16.—Because residents of Quincy, Wash., often get mail intended for Quincy, Mass., they have started a movement to change the abbreviation designating the state named in honor of the nation's first president. They think "Wash." should be abbreviated still further to "W." A. J. Terent, secretary of the Quincy Commercial club says: "The postmaster here informs me that many letters and packages addressed to towns in Maine and other states come to this postoffice. This is caused by the similarity of the abbreviation of several states, as in the case of Miss. Mass. Mich. and others, when written in longhand. On an

The Changing Age

Girls and boys from 14 to 19 years of age undergo physical changes which tax their strength to the utmost and the strain is always apparent from pale cheeks, colorless lips, and tired bodies—sometimes eruptions of the skin and the utter lack of the ambition and animation with which their younger years were filled.

Budding into womanhood and manhood, with the duties of school or business, demands concentrated nourishment which is readily convertible into red blood corpuscles, energy and strength, and the very best thing for this changing age is the medical nutrient in Scott's Emulsion—it possesses the rare blood-making properties of cod liver oil in a predigested form; hypophosphites for the nervous system, with the healing, soothing qualities of pure glycerine.

Its nourishing force promotes assimilation, yields direct returns in abundant red blood, fills hollow cheeks, tones the nerves, makes all good food do good, and does it in a natural easy manner. The sustaining nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is so helpful to this changing age that it should never be neglected—every druggist has it.

HOMESTEADER TO TRAVEL 2500 MILES BY OX TEAM

REGINA, Sask., March 16.—Twenty five hundred miles by ox-wagon is the journey on which Charles Wasmen started today. Leaving this city in a away-backed prairie schooner mounted on runners, Wasmen intends to journey slowly southward and, barring accident, arrive at Belleville, Ill., next September. He declared before leaving that he had no particular object in driving oxen except to surprise his friends and relatives in Belleville.

Wasmen is a Saskatchewan homesteader and before leaving secured the endorsement of the Regina board of trade in his venture. He expects to make twelve miles a day at first, but after the oxen become hardened, will try to cover twenty miles.

Launching Set for May 11.

BATHE, Me., March 16.—The racing sloop Defiance, a candidate for defense of the American cup, will be launched on May 11, according to George M. Pynchon, of New York, managing director of the Tri-City Syndicate, which is building the boat here.

This is the first date definitely announced for the launching of any of the trio of yachts which will enter the elimination trials.

SALTS IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT

STOP EATING MEAT FOR A WHILE IF YOUR BLADDER IS TROUBLING YOU.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lazy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The rine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia water drink.

At the Mercy of the Contractor

Every man who builds of lumber or concrete is almost wholly at the mercy of the contractor, who can easily without your knowing it substitute a lower grade of material than that called for in the specifications. Wherever the contractor has the opportunity to use the cheaper lumber or "skimp the cement" he is tempted to do it, for the substitution means just that much more profit for him. And we know a lot of contractors who don't require much tempting; you know them, too.

However, if you build of brick, it will be different, for a brick is a brick and no contractor can alter its superior qualities. He must put it into the building just as it comes from the brick yard.

Will you tempt the contractor's honesty or will you protect your investment by building of brick?

The Double Guarantee

WHEN you buy a standard, nationally advertised article from a merchant of standing and character you are buying with double protection to yourself.

You have a double guarantee to fall back on—that of the manufacturer and that of the man who sells the goods.

You of course have to deal only with the store from which you buy; the store, in turn, looks to the manufacturer to make good for any deficiency.

It is not often that anyone will have need of the guarantee; for when a thing is sold by such open and above-board methods it is going to be as nearly right as it can possibly be made.

There is a protection in buying advertised goods that there isn't in buying those which are not advertised.

The best guide to reliable buying is the advertising in live newspapers like the East Oregonian.

More people are reading advertising every day because it pays.
